Suspect in Manlius Stabbing is charged with Promoting Prison Contraband

City of Syracuse, New York – The Onondaga County Sheriff's Office reports that the suspect in the Manlius stabbing that occurred Friday night is now facing additional charges for smuggling prison contraband into the Justice Center.

Noah D. Welker (20) of Manlius, was charged with promoting prison contraband in the 1st degree and criminal possession of a controlled substance in the 7th degree after he was caught trying to bring heroin into the Justice Center. Welker was brought to the Justice Center Saturday morning after the Manlius Police Department charged him in connection with the stabbing incident that took place Friday evening near the Nice N Easy store on Cazenovia Road.

Deputies discovered the heroin hidden on Welker during booking procedures. He was later charged by Detectives and arraigned in the City of Syracuse Court before Judge Theodore Limpert who set bail at $2500 cash/bond.
