Man Killed in Logging Accident Identified

Town of Lysander, New York – The Onondaga County Sheriff's Office releases the name of the victim who was killed in Friday's logging accident in the Town of Lysander.

Sheriff's Deputies have identified the victim in Friday's logging accident as 55 year old Scott Freeman of Hannibal NY. Deputies say Freeman was in the wooded area behind a residence located at 9171 Prine Road where he had been cutting down some trees when one of the trees broke free and fell on top of him. Freeman suffered a traumatic injury and was alone at the time of incident which is said to have occurred sometime after 10:00 am that morning. He was discovered at approximately 3:10 pm, by a family friend who went to check on him.
